NEWS OF THE DAY

The German government has it is said begun an inquiry into German atrocities in Belgium.

Official Washington inclines to the belief that the differences of Chile and Peru will be settled without force of arms.

A gigantic Prussian plot to jail the whole present German government and establish a provisional government under Field Marshal von Mackensen, has, it is said, just been nipped in the bud by the Ebert government.

Regimental bands are being recruited to full strength and are equipped to be sent to the armies of Generals Plumer and Rawlinson to impress the Germans, during the triumphant entry of the British armies into the cities and towns of the Rhineland. The purpose is to drive home to the Germans a sense of their defeat.

Great Lakes shippers have sent a fleet of 181 steel vessels aggregating 611,935 deadweight tons to the seaboard between August and November 1, it was announced by the Shipping Board yesterday. This exceeds the entire output of all American shippers for any one of the pre-war years. In 1916 all of these yards produced only thirty-eight vessels of 285,555 tons.

"The entry of the British fleet into the Baltic," says Admiral Lord Charles Beresford, formerly first lord of the British admiralty, "is of great importance. It reopens direct communication between England and Petrograd, which is sure to have a great influence upon the political situation in Finland and in the Baltic province annexed by Germany under the treaty of Brest-Litovsk."

Leroy T. Buckingham, the 17-year-old runner for the District National Bank of Washington, who has $2,000 in cash and $6,000 in securities belonging to the bank is still among the missing. Not a sign of the boy or the money has been found, although the police of every large city on the Atlantic Coast have conducted a diligent search.

Government projects halted by strikes of plasterers' painters' and other sympathetic unions, may be finished by soldier labor, it is learned. Universal demands for higher wages to make up for lessened number of hours have been made by unions throughout the city. This rumor of soldier labor may be responsible for the deferred action on the general strike of several unions.

The vanguard of the American party which will be in Paris during the sessions of the peace conference sailed from New York yesterday on the new American steamship Orizaba. The members of the party included more than 100 newspaper correspondents and those who will act in a secretarial and clerical capacity to members of the peace mission. The Orizaba, being a slower boat than the George Washington, needs two days extra steaming to arrive at Brest at the same time as the presidential party.

Conincident with the departure from Constantinople of Enver Pasha, the former Turkish minister of war, and his colleagues, the disappearance of 25,000,000 Turkish pounds of public funds placed in various banks was noticed, according to the Tribune of Geneva. It is believed, the newspaper says, that the money has been transferred to neutral banks or carried away. Enver Pasha has been invited by the Berlin authorities to leave the German capital, and it is expected he will arrive in Switzerland soon.

KING CEMENTS PACT

British Monarch's Visit to Paris Strengthens Old Alliance

Pars, Dec. 2.—It is permissible to state that King George's visit to Paris at this time has a deeper significance than that of any empty military show or a formal reception.

Perusing the French press comment, one gains the impression that the British monarch's visit signifies the formation of a definite Franco-British alliance, first, of a military nature, and then in preparation for united action at the coming Peace Conference.

Throughout the public ceremonies the King is wearing his campaign uniform. All formality is marked by military simplicity, contrasting with the pompous show of his last visit in the spring of 1914.

The French press definitely states that the King is being received as the commander-in-chief of the British army and navy.

Le Temps writes: "The British empire is safe only while it has a friend in France and Belgium, and France breathes freely only if the British fleet remains friendly."

This, translated into plain English, means that France accepts British control of the seas.

The "entente cordiale" formed before the war was rather vague, but it has been strengthened through the London agreement against separate peace, which agreement might expire with the end of the war.

SMUGGLERS GIVE BATTLE

Fire Upon Pursuing Officers But Are Captured.

Fredericksburg, Va., Dec. 2.—Following a battle with officers, two men who gave the names of C. P. Sanders and R. J. Wark were arrested Friday night accused of running liquor into Virginia. The men were in an automobile, which was found to contain 265 quarts of whisky.

Sergt. J. C. Chichester, Chief of Police Perry and Constable Stone of this city, got a tip that a blockade runner was coming and watched the bridge over the Rappahannock. When the suspected machine came in sight the gate on the bridge was closed in the car. The whisky runners fired three shots and drove their machine through the gate. The officers followed in another car, but for a time lost their quarry which turned off the road at Chilesburg.

Soon discovering their mistake the officers turned back and met the suspected auto. They took position in the road and called upon the fleeing men to halt, but were greeted again with a volley. Bullets passed through Sergeant Chichester's and Chief Perry's clothes.

The alleged whisky runners broke through, but soon ran their car into a ditch and were captured. The men were brought to jail here.
